

Two great news from Acta Acustica united with Acustica

Introduction of hybrid publishing model with Open Access publication option and a new category of papers: the Fast Track Article

From 1st of May 2016 authors may choose the following additional options of publishing in Acta Acustica united with Acustica, the journal of the European Acoustics Association.

i) Open Access Option for research articles: Authors may choose this option, if they wish to have their accepted manuscripts published open access immediately upon publication. Open access might be a requirement of their institutions or research funders allowing non-subscribers of the journal to access their article free-of-charge. For instance, funding programmes of the European Commission (EC) or by National Funding Agencies in Europe ask the authors/researchers to make the results of their work freely accessible. In particular, for a research funding of the program H2020, it is suggested to consider the relevance of the choice of the journal of the European Acoustics Association.

For this option authors or their research funders are required to pay an Article Publication Charge (APC) of EUR 1200 (plus VAT, if applicable).

ii) Fast Track Article type: Fast Track Article is a new article type, which stands for fast peer-review, fast production and immediate open access publication. It is for short scientific papers characterized by their concision and originality. The length is limited to four pages. The objective is to complete the reviewing and publication processes within two months from submission. Online access to the article is possible before the publication of the respective journal issue.

For this option authors or their research funders are required to pay a Fast Track Article fee of EUR 450 (plus VAT, if applicable).

Whether or not an author chooses one of the above options, all articles are subject to thorough, independent peer-review.

The European Acoustics Association (EAA) and Hirzel Verlag are pleased to extend the existing publication options for authors with this launch of the hybrid publishing model (open access articles requiring publication fees besides subscription articles). All other publishing options that have been offered until now remain valid.

For more information please see the revised version of the Instructions for Authors, which will be available from 1st of May 2016 on the journal's website (<http://www.acta-acustica-united-with-acustica.com/for-authors>).
