

Acta Acustica united with Acustica
Reminder: What is the hybrid model of publication?

With the hybrid model, authors can choose between the traditional publication, accessible by library subscription (or for EAA members, by EAA Keys!) and the Open Access publication.

From 1st of May 2016 authors may choose an additional option of publishing in Acta Acustica united with Acustica, the journal of the European Acoustics Association. All other publishing options that have been offered until now remain valid.

Open Access Option for research articles: Authors may choose this option, if they wish to have their accepted manuscripts published open access immediately upon publication. Open access might be a requirement of their institutions or research funders allowing nonsubscribers of the journal to access their article free-of-charge. For instance, funding programmes of the European Commission (EC) or by National Funding Agencies in Europe ask the authors/researchers to make the results of their work freely accessible. In particular, for a research funding of the program H2020, it is suggested to consider the relevance of the choice of the journal of the European Acoustics Association. For this option authors or their research funders are required to pay an Article Publication Charge (APC) of EUR 1200 (plus VAT, if applicable), and 350€ for the Fast Track article type.

For more information please see the revised version of the Instructions for Authors, which will be available on the journal's website
