

© DEGA, 2011

German Acoustical Society

Judith Lang passed away

With deep sadness, we received the news that Hon. Prof. DI Dr. techn. Judith Lang has passed away at the age of 94 years. She worked as chair of the „Staatliche Versuchsanstalt für Wärme- und Schalltechnik“ in Vienna (Austria), as honorary professor in Graz and Vienna, as consultant for the World Health Organization and in many voluntary positions.

With Judith Lang's passing, we have lost a prominent scientist. Especially in the field of building acoustics standardisation, her outstanding merits are widely appreciated. For her lifetime dedication to her work, her youthful energy and her modesty, she was considered a kind and trusted colleague for many acousticians.

Among her numerous awards, DEGA had the extraordinary pleasure to honor her with the Helmholtz Medal in 2011, which is the highest award of the German Acoustical Society.

We will remember Judith Lang as a notable and valuable acoustician.

The next Nuntius will acknowledge her merits and provide further information on her life's work.