The new name and the conditions of the financial support to authors members of a National Society of EAA will be decided during the EAA General Assembly on 8th Sep 2019, and all authors will be informed. The regular Article Processing Charge will be 900€ (half price for short papers). The new journal will be one of the first acoustic journal fully Open Access. As a consequence, it will be ready for the fulfillment of the plan S.

For papers submitted before 9th Sep, the peer-review and publications processes are maintained as before. The editorial board will do the best for the decisions before 1st of November. At the latest date, the papers accepted will be published in the last issue of Acta Acustica united with Acustica (November-December 2019). The conditions being unchanged, the authors will have the possibility to publish their papers in Open Access.

For papers submitted from 9th Sep, the authors are informed that the submission can be considered for the new journal. New instructions will be given in the next weeks.
